This study of the early years of Abd al-Rahman Azzam Pasha, the first Secretary-General of the Arab League, addresses persisting questions about the development of Arab nationalism in Egypt. It focuses upon Azzam's student activism in Egypt and Europe, his participation in the Libyan resistance to Italy before and after World War I and his advocacy of Egyptian Arab nationalism between the two World Wars.

This translation into English of a great Islamic classic offers the western world a simple yet profound interpretation of Islam. Drawing upon years of unparalleled experience in diplomacy and government, Azzam examines the social and economic ramifications of the Muslim state, one based on humane ideals of law and justice expressed in the Qur'an, and one which can provide the foundation for a just society. Abd al-Rahman Azzam (1893-1976) is generally considered as the father of the Arab League. He served as the League's first Secretary-General between 1945-52 as well as distinguishing himself in a long career as an ambassador and parliamentarian. As Vincent Sheean points out in his introduction, 'In Damascus as well as in Djakarta, Istanbul and Baghdad, this man is known for valour of spirit and elevation of mind...He combines in the best Islamic mode, the aspects of thought and action, like the Muslim warriors of another time who are typified for us Westerners by the figure of Saladin.' Malcolm X's reading of The Eternal Message of Muhammad and his meeting with Azzam Pasha are vividly recounted in his Autobiography. It is clear that these events marked the point in his life at which Malcolm X turned towards orthodox traditional Islam.

Saladin is the greatest hero of the Middle East, a legendary figure admired and revered to this day. This is the first serious biography in over 20 years and the first ever by a non-western scholar in English. It shows that Saladin's genius was not in warfare but in giving the people of Middle East a spiritual vision.

Cleopatra was Egypt's last and most famous queen. In an age of war and bloodshed, not only did she use her intelligence, her beauty and her charm to defend her beloved country, but also, the two most powerful men of the time fell in love with her. First as a young woman, she dazzled the great Caesar by rolling herself up in a carpet in order to meet him. Then sometime after Caesar's murder, Cleopatra enchanted the great Mark Antony, so beginning one of the most famous love stories in history and one of its most tragic.
